"Rooms for Rent" at Ford's.

Ford's Opera-house will open for the season on Monday, in the new comedy of "Rooms for Rent." It is described to be a comedy on the farce order, pure and simple, and its sole object is to provoke mirth and excite laughter. The scenes are well laid, and the plot, though not very strong, is sufficiently clear to carry out the purpose of its author in the completest style.

Under H. Clay Ford's supervision, the Opera-house has been refitted and renovated completely, and presents a strikingly handsome appearance. We wish Harry the best of good luck this season, financially and in a theatrical sense.

The Mammoth Minstrels, "Rooms for Rent" at Ford's.

The Mammoth Minstrels, at the National Theatre, continue to draw immense houses and play to enthusiastic audiences. To night is their last perform-ance, and all who enjoy a hearty laugh at refined minstrel humor should attend.

Jennie Lee. This popular actress opens with a fine support at the National, on Monday night, in "Jo," a dramatization of Dickens' "Bleak House." Miss Lee assumes the title role, and enacts the pathetic character with rare grace and dramatic power. The metropolitan press has been unqualified in her praise and in the commendation of her commendation and a successful weak is anticinated.

The demand being good, prices are well maintained. The scarcity of coal-carrying vessels, which has been an impediment to the delivery of the coal by water, has ceased, and there is now abundant transportation. This improved feature has had the effect of greatly reducing the stock at tide-water points, and dissipating all fear of a glut. There was some enforced suspension last week, owing to the scarcity of water to run the motive power at the collieries. The only supplies at the majority of the collieries that are not using mine water were transported to them power at the collieries. The only supplies at the majority of the collieries that are not using mine water were transported to them in tanks, which, besides the inconvenience, adds considerably to the cost of mining; yet every colliery that can be worked is kept up to its fullest capacity. The great fear now is that an enforced suspension will be necessitated by the giving out of the present sources whence water is obtained. If there is not rain very soon one-half of the collieries in this region will be idle; and in view of the threatened condition everybody is eager to get all the coal out possible while the water lasts.

The coal product of the Schuylkill region for the week ending September 3 was 159,978 tons, as against 167,623 tons for the week previous, and 180,087 tons for the week previous, and 180,087 tons for the corresponding week of last year. The total product for the week was 550,156 tons, against 614,823 tons for the same week of last year, a decrease of 94,667 tons. The output for the year so far is 18,154,457 tons, against 14,351,853 tons for the corresponding period of last year, an increase of 3,753,604 tons.

Cotton Seed Butter.

N. O. Democrat.

Two gentlemen of this city, after experimenting for several months, have at last discovered or invented a method of making excellent butter out of cotton seed oil. A sample was sent to this office yesterday, and was tested by several experts, who lavished high encomiums upon this new discovery. Being of a purely vegetable nature, it will not have the enemies to combat that so vigorously and rancorously assail the oleomargarine, which is manufactured from animal oils. The inventors propose to make two grades of this vegetable butter, which they claim to be far superior to all other kinds of artificial butter yet made, and at the same time profess that they will beable to sell it at a much fess that they will beable to sell it at a much less price. After a series of trying and vexatious experiments a coloring matter was discovered that gives the article a most ex-quisite yellow tint, equal to that assumed by the finest New York butters. We have not learned what the inventors intend donot learned what the inventors intend do-ing with their discovery, or whether they will manufacture the article here or else-where. They seem to be sanguine of its success as a substitute for the different kinds of artificial butter now in use, but refuse to give any detailed account of the process employed in its manufacture.

He further denies the story of his associates that he had no money to speak of when he left this country, but suddenly became possessed of a large amount after the Vienna race. On the contrary, he says that when he sailed for Europe he carried a check for $550, as well as $100 in cash. The check he kept until the day after the quarrel occurred between him and the rest of the crew, when he went to a bank and had it cashed. Mr. Shinkel says that he proposes to go to Chicago and continue his medical studies. First, however, he will visit Ithaca, and he says that when he returns there he intends to take legal advice as to the course which he ought to pursue toward his accusers. He says that the whole scandal has arisen from a personal disagreement between Lewis and himself last spring, when he defeated the latter for the captaincy of the

—In the regatta at Toronto yesterday the four-oared race was won by the Toronto crew, with the Halifax crew second. The Halifax boat was leaking badly, and two of the crew jumped from the boat at the turn. The other two continued rowing, and won second place. The Queen City crew, of Buffalo, were swamped about a half a mile from the start. The Lee-Morris crew were swamped at the turn, and quit rowing. All these mishaps were caused by the boats getting into the swell of a steamer. The Lee-Morris crew that the turn is the halifax grew turning their hear of the Halifax grew turning their hear of the Halifax grew turning their hear of the Halifax grew turning their hear Morris crew claim second place on account of the Halifax crew turning their buoy. Conley and Hamm won the double-scull race; Trickett and Gaudar second; time, 15:47‡; but the course was a short three Murdered by His Two Daughters.

Near Whitmill, Pittsylvania County, Va., on Thursday, Robert Williams and wife had a quarrel, whereupon the wife left home and went to a neighboring magistrate, where she obtained a warrant for the arrest of Williams. The magistrate appointed Williams' own son as a special constable to execute the warrant. On arriving at Williams' house with the warrant, the dead body of Williams was found lying upon a bed-quilt in the yard. The head had been nearly severed from the body with an ax, which was lying beside it. No living person was found in the house, but it was learned that two daughters of Williams, who had been left with him by their mother when she went for the warrant, had fled after having perpetrated the murder, and have not yet been arrested. Williams was an educated man, of good family, but addicted to drink, and daugerous when drunk. Murdered by His Two Daughters but addicted to drink, and dangerous when

And This in Massachusetts ! The Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court on Thursday dismissed the petition of Lelia J. Robinson to be admitted to practice as an attorney in the courts, on the ground that under the laws of the Commonwealth a woman is not entitled to be admitted as an attorney. Miss Robinson took a regular course at the Boston University Law School, of which she is a graduate.
